Sponsorship Opportunities

The Consumer Food Safety Education Conference will virtually bring together educators, government, and industry to create a shared platform for collaboration that strengthens the entire food system.

Make visible your leadership in protecting public health, showing that food safety is a shared responsibility upheld by the entire food system by sponsoring.

Your support will help keep this event accessible to all and directly contribute to keeping health and food safety professionals connected, informed, and inspired to protect public health.

Thank you!
